

GIVING ANIMALS A SECOND CHANCE

Since 2021 the Humane Society has supported and assisted The Lexington Technology Center's Small Animals Program. The purpose of the program is to allow LTC students the opportunity to learn proper care of all types of companion animals. So far this year the program has improved the lives of 14 cats, 5 guinea pigs, 8 rabbits, 2 rats, 1 parakeet and 1 rooster.

Animals in the program interact with students as they are carefully socialized, mentally and physically stimulated, and routinely groomed. By the end of training the domesticated animals are no longer considered to be "animals", but pets! They are receptive, healthy, loyal furbabies for their adoptive families.

Some of the animals in this program have come from cruelty cases around the state. Most of the time they are still recuperating physically and healing emotionally from the trauma of abuse. The Small Animals program continues to successfully nurture trust in humans for the animals, teaching them to love again.

With the help of our gracious donors we have been able to assist this program in spay/neuter services, vaccines, food and supplies for these animals. We are grateful for the opportunity to be a part of this program and honored to provide the critical resources necessary for adoption—all because of you!

MEET CHUCK & TABITHA

"When we received [Chuck and Tabitha] from the Humane Society, they didn't have all of their hair due to the situation in which they came from," LTC Teacher Robert Bollier says. "The students fell in love with these two cats and they are currently still in the classroom. Chuck and Tabitha are fat and sassy now with nice coats of hair."

Each day, and every class period the animals wait at the door for the students to enter the classroom. Chuck and Tabitha receive soft head rubs from each student as they find their seats; these cats are living the high life right now!

This story is only one example of how the Humane Society and LTC's Small Animal Program have worked together to rehabilitate and relocate animals as pets. We consider ourselves fortunate to be able to provide our services and assistance in the care of these animals.

JOIN OUR MISSION

We are able to help programs like Mr. Bollier's LTC class because of contributors like you. We would not be able to help Chuck and Tabitha and animals just like them if it were not for our supporters in our cause. Please consider donating to our cause to enable us to spread our services to more animals in need.
